Martín is a particularly intense combo-guard with a special physicality.

In attack he is a player who thrives on very good counterattacks and penetrations that often end with 2+1. His greatest skill is his verticality, he attacks the defender's waist very well and penetrates very hard almost always down low, as his body and his jump help him to do so by absorbing contacts very well.

His vision is very good, and he knows how to select passes well either on the first line of passing or on the second line to find open shooters.

All in all, Martín can play point guard or shooting guard interchangeably, depending on which strengths the coach wants to exploit the most. He also has a good three-point threat.

In addition to this, he is very clever on the ball and plays very well off the ball, with very good back door actions.

His leap allows him to grab a lot of offensive rebounds and often finishes them with dunks.

Defensively he is an extremely intense player, who likes to communicate a lot with his teammates and is ideal for defending the best opposing guard player, as he is fast and also very strong.

He also takes advantage of his physicality to block on a number of occasions and is a very good defensive rebounder.

In short, Fernández is a very complete and intense player, who takes care of his body and trains daily in the gym to continue to evolve. He therefore has a lot of room for improvement.
